

Jane Lockhart is owner of Jane Lockhart UX Designs, LLC in South Bend, IN. She brings a decade of corporate experience with companies like Whirlpool, KitchenAid, and Bissell to her clients, helping them to create digital and print communication strategies designed to connect with their real client base, assisting with everything from evaluating the usability of your website to designing infographics or a flier. Jane is passionate about South Bend and growing the entrepreneurial spirit of the city.

She is a member of AMA Michiana, where she's Communications Co-Chair, she is involved in Ready to Grow St. Joe Community Meetings supporting early childhood education in the Michiana area, as well as a communications volunteer for the Meow Mission. In her spare time, Jane can be found reading and cooking with her husband and two very large cats. She and Sam also share a passion for travel. Jane is a product of the Spark program at St. Mary's College and is passionate about giving back to WBOM as a way to thank all of you for your support of the program that allowed her to create the plan for the life she envisioned for herself.
